2.16 WHOLE SCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS AND DISABILITIES (SEND) POLICY

This policy has due regard to the SEND Code of Practice 0 – 25 July 2014 and is compliant with the following legislative documents and guidance:

- Equality Act 2010: advice for schools DfE Feb 2013
- Part 3 of the Children and Families Act 2014

The SEND Policy is a whole school policy and therefore relevant and applicable to pupils from Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) to Upper Sixth (Year 13). Responsibility for this policy falls to the Headmaster; the day-to-day operation of the policy is the responsibility of the Director of Learning Support who reports into the Deputy Head Academic on the King's Leadership Team.

Section 6 of the Equality Act 2010 defines disability as 'a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long term adverse effect on someone's ability to carry out normal day to day activities'.

2.16.1 The Learning Support Team

Director of Learning Support (FT), responsible for:

- Constructing, maintaining and communicating the whole school SEND register, including EYFS, to all teaching and support staff.
- Keeping abreast of changes in legislation on disability and special educational needs.
- Monitoring and reporting on relevant data and statistics in regard to children with SEND at the School including EYFS.
- Writing and distributing Individual Education Plans (IEPs) for all students on the SEND register, detailing reasonable adjustments for the classroom, specific 'wave' of learning support provision and access arrangements needed.
- Keeping abreast of current best practice in the field of SEND by attending external training courses, CPD and benchmarking with other schools.
- Working closely with Deputy Head Pastoral in Willow Lodge, Junior School and Senior School to ensure that the provision for children with SEND is considered in accordance with their overall wellbeing.
- Overseeing the coordination and implementation of access arrangements in school entrance exams and internal school exams in the Junior and Senior School.
- Undertaking the process of applying for access arrangements in external examinations in accordance with JCQ regulations.
- Arranging for screening tests of whole year groups at various points in their school career.
- Using baseline and screening data to help identify children with special educational needs.
- Informing parents and pupils of any SEND concerns the School may have and advising on the need for further diagnostic or medical assessments.

- Monitoring the classroom provision for children with SEND by working closely with teaching staff and being part of annual departmental reviews and 'learning walks' in all key stage areas.
- Identifying and facilitating regular staff training in all areas of SEND, including dyslexia, dyspraxia, ADHD and ASD.
- Holding regular meetings with parents and pupils to discuss learning needs, school provision and progress being made.
- Making decisions on the appropriate level of support needed for each individual child with SEND and allocating departmental staff accordingly.
- Working in partnership with external agencies and the Local Authority to help identify and support pupils with SEND.
- Overseeing the transition process as children move between key stages, schools and on to Higher Education and advising parents, pupils and staff accordingly.

Specialist Dyslexia Teachers responsible for:

- Collecting and interpreting specialist assessment data to inform practice.
- Planning and delivering 1:1 support and interventions to pupils with dyslexia and literacy problems.
- Planning and delivering group support interventions to support pupils with dyslexia and literacy difficulties.
- Keeping parents and carers informed about their child's progress.

- Keeping up-to-date with changes in legislation and JCQ rules.
- Assessing children from 3rd Year (Year 9) onwards using a variety of assessment tools in preparation for applying for Exam Access Arrangements for GCSE and GCE examinations.
- Maintaining and developing resources, co-ordinating their deployment and monitoring their effectiveness in meeting the objectives of school and SEND policies.

Learning Support Assistant (FT) responsible for:

- Supporting either individuals or small groups of pupils within or outside the classroom.
- Providing specialist support for children on the autism spectrum.

- Collaborating with the classroom teacher and DoLS to define appropriate activities for the pupils in relation to the curriculum.
- Helping to promote independent learning and encouraging the students to make use of the school library independently.
- Where appropriate, providing pupil assistance during internal and external examinations i.e. reader, scribe additional time requirements, practical assistant.

School nurse responsible for:

- Nursing care of all pupils.
- Administration of medication.
- Writing and distributing Individual Health Plans (IHPs) for all students on the SEND register who have a long term medical condition which means they are considered to be disabled within the meaning of the Equality Act.
- Dealing with medical emergencies.
- Managing and supporting pupils with long term health needs.
- Liaising with parents, teachers, doctors, specialist nurses and external agencies in matters relating to pupil health.
- Ensuring a large number of staff are first aid trained and are competent to administer emergency medication if needed.
- Ensuring relevant staff are regularly updated on the management of diabetes and epilepsy.

The King's School does not employ teaching assistants to work in classrooms and alongside individuals on a 1:1 basis. It is the School's expectation that children with SEND can make good progress in the classroom without the need for 1:1 support from a Teaching Assistant.

The Learning Support team is very much part of the school and does not work in isolation at any point. The Learning Support team works closely with classroom teachers, EYFS team, form tutors, the school nurse, school counsellor, examinations officer, leadership team and safeguarding lead.

2.16.2 Admissions for children with special educational needs

In compliance with the Equality Act 2010, the King's School will not discriminate on the grounds of disability. As an academically selective school, every child applying for a place will be required to sit an entrance test before the offer of a place is made. If the child applying for the place has a diagnosis of a special educational need or disability then the School can provide access arrangements, such as extra time, in the entrance test.

If a child has particularly significant needs and/or an EHC Plan/Statement, then the Director of Learning Support will invite parents into school to discuss their child's needs in more detail. The School may also make contact with the child's current school or nursery to find out more about the provision needed. The aim of this process is to encourage an open discussion with parents and providers so that we might determine whether or not the King's School has adequate resources to meet the needs of the child.

2.16.3 External reports and diagnosis

The School does not carry out full diagnostic assessments or pay for private ones. If undertaken, this is as a private arrangement which is organised and paid for by parents. Although members of the Learning Support team can conduct various screening assessments which can help identify learning needs, we will not and cannot diagnose specific learning difficulties. The School does, however, have good working relationships with a range of private dyslexia assessors, educational psychologists, paediatricians and speech and language therapists. If parents wish to get their child assessed privately they MUST contact the school first to check that the School is happy to accept a report from that particular practitioner. The School will accept private assessments provided that:

- a) Parents have informed the school that a private assessment is taking place;
- b) Details of the private assessor, including details of their appropriate qualifications have been passed to the school;
- c) The private assessor makes formal verbal or written contact with the Director of Learning Support to discuss the child and the school's perspective or their potential needs.

Please see further information with regard to private assessments in the School Exam Access Arrangements Policy.

2.16.4 Identifying children with special educational needs

If at any stage in the child's time at The King's School a parent is concerned about their child having special educational needs, then they are actively encouraged to speak directly to the Director of Learning Support either by telephone or email to arrange an appointment.

To ensure that the School actively identifies children who may have a specific learning difficulty, the Learning Support department runs whole year group screening tests at various points throughout a child's career (Junior 2, Removes, 3rd Year of the Senior School). The School uses a range of computerised screening tests, published by LUCID, which test a range of skills including spelling, reading, working memory, concentration, processing, comprehension and handwriting speed. Data from these tests is not automatically reported back to parents as the Director of Learning Support will internally consider the data carefully alongside input from teaching staff, grades, school reports and end of year exams and the child will be added to the 'School Watch Monitoring' register. After this period of monitoring if it is felt that there might be an underlying learning difficulty which needs investigation, then the Director of Learning Support will contact parents directly via phone or email.

The School trains all teaching and support staff on a range of specific learning difficulties. Staff are actively encouraged to report concerns to the Learning Support team through an online referral system. These concerns are then followed up by the Learning Support team and the child may be added to the 'School Watch Monitoring' register so that teacher comments, grades and exam results can be tracked and considered at various points throughout the year. All new staff receive training and information from the Learning Support Team as part of the Induction process.

2.16.5 Supporting children with special educational needs and disabilities

Children who have been diagnosed with a specific learning difficulty or disability are added to the School's Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Register. Once a diagnostic or medical report is sent into school by parents, a 'Needs Assessment' meeting will be arranged by the Director of Learning Support or the School Nurse. During this meeting the outcome and recommendations of the diagnostic or medical report will be considered in full and decisions will be made on the types of adjustments which will be needed to support the child in school, this will also include Exam Access Arrangements (see separate policy).

The School commits to considering all of the recommendations made by the external specialist and making adjustments for the child where possible, however it is important to note that these adjustments will be considered within the realms of what is considered both financially and practically reasonable for the school to do and input from the Headmaster and Bursar may be required. For any adjustment to be considered reasonable by the school, it must be appropriate and realistic in terms of cost and/or timeframe.

Following the 'Needs Assessment' meeting, an IEP (Individual Education Plan) or IHP (Individual Health Plan) will be created and distributed to all teachers and added to the school database system iSAMS. The role of the IEP/IHP is to ensure that every teacher is fully aware of the child's needs and to provide guidance on how they can adjust their teaching methods to ensure that children with SEND can make good progress.

The type of support available to children with SEND is broken down into '3 waves'. The day-to-day decision about the deployment of resources and level of support appropriate for the child will be made by the Director of Learning Support in consultation with parents at the Needs Assessment meeting. Where the child's SEND may require more significant adjustments to the physical environment of the school and/or require more resources to be allocated, the decision will be made by the Headmaster. The school budget includes money for supporting children with SEND.

WAVE 1: Quality First Teaching

- In accordance with the Children and Families Act 2014, the school actively pursues the philosophy that every teacher is a teacher of SEND.
- It is the expectation that all pupils are able to access the full curriculum.
- Most pupils on the SEND register will be adequately supported within the classroom setting by the class teacher making reasonable adjustments to teaching and learning in accordance with their IEP or IHP.
- It is every class teacher's responsibility to be aware of the needs of children with SEND, the adjustments that are needed, and how to successfully implement these in order to achieve the desired outcomes.
- Every child with a diagnosed special educational need or disability is added to the school's 'SEND register'. This is made available to all staff and is continually updated by the Learning Support team. Every teacher is responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all pupils in their class.

WAVE 2: Group support

Group support sessions can be offered to any child at the King's School regardless of whether they are diagnosed with SEND and listed on the School SEND register. The School recognises that some children may require additional support for a short term bloc of time to help with literacy, social skills or study skills. These group support sessions are run at various times throughout the week before and after school, at lunch and break times and as part of the timetable. The Learning Support team will liaise closely with classroom teachers from all areas of the school to make decisions on who would benefit from these group sessions and contact will be made with parents before the sessions start. Group support sessions are available in the following areas:

- Literacy/phonics – Key stage 1 and 2 only.
- Literacy – iDL computer programme for Junior School pupils only.
- Social communication skills including social stories and Minecraft.
- Memory training – Cogmed and Lumosity.
- Study skills.
- Assistive technology including OneNote and Text Read Write.
- 'Talk Time' – a privately funded social skills group run by an external provider.

WAVE 3: One-to-one specialist support lessons

1:1 support sessions with one of the specialist dyslexia teachers or Learning Support Assistant are offered to students with the most significant needs. For these lessons to take place a child is likely to be withdrawn from a particular subject, but this is only ever done after full consultation with parents and the child. The lessons with the dyslexia teacher are chargeable at £12.50 for 30 mins (Willow Lodge and Junior School) and £21.00 for 50 mins (Senior School).

2.16.6 Working with the Local Authority, EHC Plans and Statements

If a child has significant special educational need or a disability and has been awarded an EHC Plan or Statement of Educational Needs (Wales only), then the King's School will work closely with the Local Authority and hold annual reviews as required. Parents can apply for an EHC Plan or Statement by contacting their Local Authority directly and the King's School is happy to support the application with relevant information about the needs of the child seen an educational setting.

It is important to note that without an EHC Plan or Statement the King's School, as an independent provider of education, is not part of the LA 'local offer'. Consequently the King's School is very unlikely to be able to access LA run specialist support services in school. If a child's needs are such that regular support from a specialist service is needed, then it is advised that parents speak directly to the LA to find out which maintained sector school has the most suitable provision or consider paying for these services privately.

2.16.7 Staff training on issues relating to SEND

The King's School is fully committed to training all staff in several areas of special educational needs and disability. Regular training sessions and workshops are run internally by the Learning Support team and School nurse at least once per academic year. The School also arranges for external trainers to come into school to provide specialist information on a range of specific learning difficulties. This has included sessions on dyslexia, working memory, social stories, autism spectrum disorder, ADHD/ADD, brain injury, visual impairment, epilepsy, diabetes and speech impairment.

Members of the Learning Support team and the School nurse keep up-to-date with current best practice in the field of SEND by attending regular external training sessions run by recognised professional bodies. The School Nurse is a registered paediatric nurse with over 10 years' experience working on a medical and surgical paediatric ward. She is fully up-to-date with the management of long term health needs of children and young people.

2.16.8 How is The King's School accessible to children with SEND?

The school has an Accessibility Plan that is updated every three years and reviewed annually by the Senior Leadership Team and Director of Learning Support.

2.16.9 Transition

When a child is moving to King's from another school, the Director of Learning Support or School Nurse will liaise directly with the SENDCO and class teacher or nursery provider at the child's current setting to find out more about the current provision. If the child is starting in the Sixth Form, a copy of the 'JCQ Form 8' will be required for the purpose of applying for access arrangements. For children with special educational needs moving through the school, having a 'whole school' approach to SEND provision helps ease the transition process. The Learning Support team works closely with parents, the child and class teachers to make sure the transition is a smooth process. If a child with SEND moves from King's to a new school, the Director of Learning Support or School Nurse will ensure that the full details of the SEND provision is forwarded to the new setting in the best interests of the child.

THIS POLICY WILL BE REVIEWED IN SEPTEMBER 2020
